

Descendants of Joseph Hammon

Generation 1

1. JOSEPH¹ HAMMON was born about 1753 in Cumberland County, Virginia Colony. He died on 19 Apr 1829 in Surry County, North Carolina, USA¹. He married Martha Landrum about 1777 in Lunenburg County, Virginia, USA. She was born about 1755 in Lunenburg County, Virginia, USA. She died in 1848 in Monroe County, Indiana, USA¹. Joseph Hammon lived in North Carolina, USA between 1775-1812. He served in the military in 1777 in Lunenburg County, Virginia Colony (Revolutionary War Veteran²). He lived in Surry County, North Carolina Province in 1787³. He lived in Stokes County, North Carolina, USA in 1800 (Salisbury). He lived in Surry County, North Carolina, USA in 1810. Notes for Joseph Hammon:

The following notes provided by Judith Ann HAMMOND, Apr 2001:

Joseph HAMMON resided in Lunenburg County, VA; in Surry County, NC, by 1787.

Record of marriage in Lunenburg County, VA, not found. According to Martha's statement before the court in Monroe County, IN, in 1843 when she applied for her Revolutionary War Widow's Pension there, she and Joseph were married by "Parson CRAIG" ... who was a minister at that time in Cumberland Parish, VA, which included parts of Lunenburg County. Parson CRAIG's records of the sacraments he administered to his flock were all lost. Possibly during the Civil War fighting around Petersburg, VA, where one of his direct descendants lived and whose home was "sacked" by Union Army troops.

Knowledge of marriage and children's names are from Martha's Widow's Pension Claim in the 1845 Monroe County, IN, Court where she moved about that time from Surry County, NC, with her daughter, Martha (Patsy) HAMMON COLLINS and Patsy's husband, John COLLINS. Martha was living though "aged and infirm" in 1845 and dead by 1850 Census when John COLLINS and family remained living there. Pension Claim in Monroe County gives Martha's age in 1845 as 90 years old.

Joseph served in the 14th VA Regiment, Col. DAVIDSON, Capt. BOLL's Company. Discharged in Mar 1779.

Joseph's daughter Martha (Patsy) HAMMON's husband, John COLLINS, was probably the brother of son William HAMMON's wife, Eva COLLINS. Both couples were married in Surry County, NC.

In Wilkes County, NC, sixth company were: John 1-3-8-0-0; Benjamin 1-0-3-0; William 2-1-2-0-0; and James 1- 1--1 HAMMON. Also, in sixth company are the HOLBROOKS' and HARGIS'.

The following note provided by Cindy GOAD, Apr 2001, is an extract from a book entitled: "Some Pioneers from Wilkes County, NC":

In 1790, Joseph HAMMON Jr.??? listed 200 acres and no polls. This was the only time he appeared on the Tax List.

On 26 Ju1 1791, Joseph HAMMON bought 300 acres on Brushy Fork of Roaring River at a Sheriffs Sale. (Deed Book B-1, pages 265 & 266).

On 30 Nov 1793, Joseph HAMMON sold land on Brushy Fork of Roaring River adjoining Robert HAMMON and Daniel OREAR. (Deed Book D, page 120).

It is at Joseph Hammon that we have unresolved issues. Quite a bit of information was provided by Judith Ann Hammond, who discovered through DNA that she is not related to this Hamond family tree. With popular names such as William and Joseph (not to mention John!) it is understandable that errors can be made concerning information found for the 18th century. We know from Stratton Owen Hammon's research that Joseph Hammon is the son of John Hammon, Sr. and his last (2nd?) wife. Records show that he had at least two sons named William and James, probably named after Joseph's half-brothers. While purging Judith Ann Hammond's family from the tree, it comes to William, son of Joseph. According to Stratton Owen Hammon's records, Joseph was in Wilkes County, North Carolina according to records in 1791, 1793, and 1800. He doesn't show up in Surry County, North Carolina until 1808, yet all of his children are listed as being born in Surry County, North Carolina in 1778, 1781, 1787, and 1791. Are these the children of a different Joseph Hammon or is the place of birth incorrect? We know Joseph had two sons and we also know a daughter, Martha, accompanied her mother, Martha Landrum-Hammon to Indiana.

I am concerned about information provided about James, William, and Elizabeth. I feel better about the youngest daughter Martha. More work is required to get this part straightened out.

According to the Simond Hammond descendants (i.e. Jimmie Mains), they lay claim to Joseph Hammon and Martha Landrum.

Age At Death: (93) She was buried (Non-cemetery burial.⁴). Find A Grave Memorial #: (4105390⁴)

Notes for Martha Landrum:

The following notes provided by Judith Ann HAMMOND, Apr 2001:

Married to Joseph HAMMON by "Parson Craig" (Reverend James CRAIG) of Cumberland Parish, VA, in Lunenburg County, part of which was in Cumberland Parish. Parson CRAIG's marriage book has been lost. Martha swore to the time and place of the marriage and gave James CRAIG's name in her pension deposition after her widowhood and move to Monroe County, IN, with her youngest daughter, Martha (Patsy) HAMMON and Patsy's husband, John COLLINS, all from Surry County, NC. In that deposition, Martha, very aged and blind, gives the year of the marriage as about 1777. She names only four children of hers and Joseph HAMMON (this was in 1840): James, Elizabeth, William and Martha (Patsy) who married John COLLINS.

Sources:

a. Lunenburg County, VA, is speculated as Martha's birthplace. According to her application for pension as Joseph's widow in Monroe County, IN, they were married in Lunenburg County about 1777. Martha was old, ill and not in court when the application was filed. It is certain that the Landrum family was there.

b. Monroe County, IN, court records of Martha's application to receive Joseph's pension indicate that it was granted. She had moved to that county with her youngest daughter, Martha (Polly) HAMMON COLLINS, and her husband, John COLLINS. The pension ended in 1848 after her death.

Notes for James Hammonds:

Note below provided by Hayes Ellis, 4th great grandson of John Clemmons Hammond.

Our family did not leave North Carolina until after 1813. I think that it was about 1815 but do not know for sure. We went to Indiana first and then to Alabama arriving just after the Indian treaty of 1817/18. Our Hammond name does not appear on squatters lists or removal list by COL Meigs in 1812-15. Nor did we rent land from Chief Double Head.

Also, I think we actually lived in Dugout Tn on 2nd Creek as we help found the settlement of Dugout. It was literally a few hundred yards over the Ala and Tn line.

Generation 2

I think we arrived in Alabama/Tennessee on or about 1817 to 1819. We moved into DUGOUT TN on second creek.

Provided by Jim Stewart via Van Hammonds (1977).

James Hammonds, who was born in North Carolina in 1784, married "Muggie" Savage or Boggs, who was also from NC. Their children were Susanna, Rebecca, Lucinda, and John Clemons. And after John was born, Muggie died James and his brothers Ned and William with their families left to go west. They traveled in covered wagons pulled by oxen as far as Indiana. They lived there two years. Ned and his family stayed, but James and William traveled south. They stopped for rest in what is now known as Whitehead, Alabama. The length of time of the journey from Indiana to Alabama is not known. Lauderdale Co. Courthouse records show James married Sarah Savage on January 29, 1819, so their arrival was between 1817 and 1819. Their children were Miles, Jesse, William, Matilda, and Allie.

Burial Notes:

Found on his memorial site on Find A Grave: James "Jim" Hammond is not buried in a cemetery, but Jim was killed before 1850 while fox hunting. He was buried in a field near Whitehead, Lauderdale County, Alabama with only a fieldstone marker, which has been removed since the field is now used for crops.

Notes for Calvin Clemmons Hammon ✕:

Information provided by Peggy Bostick, with MANY thanks!

The following story was told by John Carlos Hammonds as told to him by his mother:

"Clem was in the shop when someone began to shoot at him from a rail fence. Clem had an old pistol that was in the shop that he had been working on because sometimes it should work and sometimes it wouldn't. He started "snipping" at the man, but it wouldn't fire. His brother was in the house and heard the shooting. He looked out and saw what was going on and yelled for Clem to "lay low", that he had something that would "get him". So he went and got a cap and ball rifle off the wall. The man heard him and started to run off. John fired and hit the man in the hip. He didn't die from the wound immediately, but never got over it and died about two years later. Clem was arrested for the murder. They tried to make him tell who fired the shot that hit the man, but he would not tell on his brother. They put him on a starvation diet and he starved to death in prison rather than tell on his brother. The Army said that he died of remitted fever. John lost his mind when he was older and everybody said it was because of what happened to his brother. He kept thinking he "heard someone outside the house".NOTE..... His family and friend put together a petition to get him out of prison and got about 200 signatures, but he was already dead.

May 16, 1865 - NASHVILLE DISPATCH

"Clem Hammond of Lauderdale County, Alabama, received 10 years, hard labor, for guerillaing and robbing and was received at military prison."

Per the book = A Walk Through the Past, by William L. McDonald**

"Chapter 17 excerpts - page 78, "Few places in modern times have endured the sufferings imposed upon it by lawless men as did the people of Lauderdale County during the last months of the Civil War. Monstrous gangs descended upon helpless individuals, families, and communities. These outlaws left a legacy of hideous crimes with scars that can never be erased from the history of the Muscle Shoal.

Lauderdale County during the Civil War was much like the back country of the Carolinas during the revolutionary War. Although its representatives voted against secession, in the main its people united behind the Confederacy once it became clear that war was inevitable. Yet, there remained considerable diversity in political ideology. Neighbors and even families were sometimes divided. There were numbers of instances where brothers fought in opposing armies, and even situations where fathers and sons wore different uniforms.

These differences flamed by passions of war became in themselves inducements for violence.

Lauderdale County was even more vulnerable to lawless actions because of its closeness to Hardin and

Wayne Counties in Tennessee where there was much Union sentiment. For example, the people of Wayne County voted 905 to 409 to oppose secession from the Union. Clifton, in Hardin County, became the base for a number of notorious gangs who frequently raided across the line into Alabama. By the end of the war, ruthless desperadoes were hiding in the hills and hollows of Lauderdale, Wayne, Hardin and nearby counties as they raided, plundered, raped, burned and murdered. Generally, these gangs were classified as either Bushwhackers, Guerrillas, or Tories. Bushwhackers or guerrillas were para-military forces. For most of the war they performed a valuable service to the confederacy by harassing the enemy's flanks and rear echelons, or by destroying their vital supply and communication lines. Tories, a term used in the revolutionary War for those who supported the Crown of England, became the name for those in Lauderdale county who supported the Union. Near the end of the war, as law and order in Florence and Lauderdale County disappeared, it became difficult to identify the former loyalties of some of these gangs as they randomly plundered in greed and lust".

Generation 4

Page 82: "By May the situation had become so grave that the Federal Army sent detachments into the area in attempts to apprehend the criminals and to restore law and order. One unit was Company H, 6th U.S. Tennessee Cavalry. This was a fortunate assignment. Its commanding officer was Ridsen D. DeFord who was well acquainted with this place. His father William, was a Methodist preacher who had served churches in Lauderdale County before the war. A number of individuals were tried and convicted. One of these were Clemens "Clay" Hammond, a son of John and Sarah Hammond who lived near Anderson. Clay received ten years at hard labor "for quarrelling and robbing." Legend has it that DeFord hanged twenty-one outlaws while in Florence".end

Location: 1101 Lebanon Pike, Nashville, Tennessee

NRHP Reference#: 05001334

Added to NRHP: November 25, 2005

Mount Olivet Cemetery is a 250-acre (1 km²) cemetery located in Nashville, Tennessee.

Mount Olivet has been continuously operated since its establishment in 1856. It serves as the final resting place for many of Middle Tennessee's political and business leaders, including several former governors of Tennessee, U.S. Senators, and U.S.

Congressional Representatives.

After the American Civil War, women of Nashville formed an association to raise funds

to purchase a separate plot of land at the cemetery for the interment of Confederate

dead. It became known as "Confederate Circle". It was used for the interment of Confederate soldiers who had died on nearby battlegrounds and as a memorial to their sacrifice. Women organized such memorial associations and raised money for interment of Confederate soldiers in major cities across the South and areas where there were concentrations of bodies.[1] The memorial association arranged for burials of about

1,500 soldiers at Confederate Circle. Confederate veterans were also eligible for interment there.

For many years, interments at Mount Olivet were limited to white Protestants.

this policy was officially eliminated decades ago, tradition has continued the practice, somewhat by self-selection. In the 1990s, a funeral home was added to the grounds of Mount Olivet.

Notes for Jasper Newton Hammond:

The following information provided by Betty Cash, Sep 2002:

Jasper Newton Hammond married Lela Jane Burch 1902. They were from eastern Lauderdale County, Al. Lived Scottsboro, Al where he laborer in sawmill.

Generation 4

Lela gave birth to 5 children between 1903 and 1915 while running a boarding house with 8 male residents. (That's 15 people in the house)

Not sure when but Jasper deserted the family after last child and Lela's father rescued her and children, returning them to his home in Anderson, Al. My mother the oldest child but none of the family would ever tell me what happened to Jasper Newton. He was seen in Huntsville, Al during WW II, and supposedly died around 1950. Jasper was the son of John William Hammond and Mary Emma (Emmaline) Cox who had a large family.

Have received some info but not enough to learn where Jasper was between 1915 and his death, date of death, burial place, second family.
